ingredients

This blend contains spices that in ancient times were considered more valuable than gold.

Patchouli: Very grounding oil, yet uplifting. Reawakens the urge to “conceive” or manifest.

Sweet Orange: Joyous, very innocent, happy child. Very emotionally balancing, encourages a positive attitude. Attracts things to you that make you happy.

Cinnamon Bark: In ancient times in Egypt Cinnamon Bark was as valuable as gold. People could pay their bills with this revered spice. Cinnamon Bark resonates with abundance.

Ginger: Calls one into action to manifest good intentions. Very valuable spice.

Black Spruce: Very grounding

Nutmeg: Very valuable spice that resonates with abundance

Jojoba: Helps the expansive nature of this blend to have ‘room’ and to integrate, and to keep sensitive skin types from experiencing Cinnamon bark as an irritant.

application

- Can be applied directly on the skin, or if preferred, you may dilute if you decide to put it directly on the skin.

success stories

INTRODUCING "JA" BODY SPRAY

My experience has been that sometimes people are not open to Essential Oils right away. Maybe it is the little bottles or how excited we are about the little bottles ... I took an atomizer/spray bottle that I had purchased from Priorities Inc and mixed up some Joy & Abundance with witch hazel, grapeseed, and 'ta daa' introducing "JA" – my fragrance for the body, by TRUessence. I have had very good response with this on both men and women. The grapeseed adds softness to the skin and hold the scent longer. UMM smells so good! Great way to introduce essential oils to the uninitiated!

SPACE / ENERGY CLEARING

One very active massage therapist has used a spray that she created using 12 – 14 drops of Joy & Abundance in 4 ounces of distilled water, in a spray bottle. First thing in the morning as she gets into her office, she sprays several times to clear the energy of the room and prepare for the day. After each massage client, she repeats the procedure, as well as repeating at the end of her busy day. She swears that this energy clearing has opened up more of her own energy. She is no longer completely depleted at the end of a long day of massaging 8 – 9 clients, whereas before learning about space/energy clearing, she often didn't have the energy to drive home from work! Again, as simple as it may seem, this ritual of energy clearing has supported her in maintaining her own energy level on a daily basis.

OPENING PERSONAL ATTRACTOR FIELDS

Joy & Abundance blend has been used for many years by those wishing to increase their own personal energy in attracting abundance of many kinds. Used in their office to attract more business, in their homes to improve family harmony and peace, sprayed on invoices that are sent out, to attract easy payment for accounts receivable, sprayed on marketing materials to attract more clients. The sky is the limit with how this blend can be used! Use your own inspiration and imagination!
